January 21-February 2, 2021

Results are based on telephone interviews conducted January 21-February 2, 2021 with a random sample of – 906—adults, ages 18+, living in all 50 U.S. states and the District of Columbia. For results based on this sample of national adults, the margin of sampling error is ± 4 percentage points at the 95% confidence level.

For results based on the sample of –420—Democrats and Democratic-leaning independents, the margin of sampling error is ± 6 percentage points.

For results based on the sample of –412—Republicans and Republican-leaning independents, the margin of sampling error is ± 6 percentage points.

Interviews are conducted with respondents on landline telephones and cellular phones, with interviews conducted in Spanish for respondents who are primarily Spanish-speaking. Each sample of national adults includes a minimum quota of 70% cell phone respondents and 30% landline respondents, with additional minimum quotas by time zone within region. Landline and cell phone telephone numbers are selected using random digit dial methods. Gallup obtained sample for this study from Dynata. Landline respondents are chosen at random within each household on the basis of which member has the next birthday.

Samples are weighted to correct for unequal selection probability, non-response, and double coverage of landline and cell users in the two sampling frames. They are also weighted to match the national demographics of gender, age, race, Hispanic ethnicity, education, region, population density, and phone status (cell phone-only/landline only/both and cell phone mostly). Demographic weighting targets are based on the March 2019 Current Population Survey figures for the aged 18 and older U.S. population. Phone status targets are based on the July-December 2019 National Health Interview Survey. Population density targets are based on the 2010 census. All reported margins of sampling error include the computed design effects for weighting.

In addition to sampling error, question wording and practical difficulties in conducting surveys can introduce error or bias into the findings of public opinion polls. For questions about how this survey was conducted, please contact galluphelp@gallup.com.

14. Now, I'm going to mention some issues facing the country and ask whether you believe the United States has made progress, stood still, or lost ground in each during the last four years, when Donald Trump was president. How about in terms of -- [RANDOM ORDER]?

15. As you may know, earlier this month the House of Representatives voted to impeach Donald Trump, which means they decided there is enough evidence to bring him to trial before the Senate.

Next, the Senate must review the evidence and vote on whether to find Trump guilty or not guilty of the charges. What do you want YOUR Senators to do --- [ROTATED: Vote in favor of convicting Trump and finding him guilty of the charges (or) Vote against convicting Trump and finding him not guilty of the charges]?

For comparison: Donald Trump first impeachment

Next, as you may know, removing a president from office involves two major steps in Congress. First, the House of Representatives must vote on whether there is enough evidence to bring a president to trial before the Senate. This step is called impeachment. Next, the Senate must vote on whether to remove the president from office, or not.

As you may know, the House has now impeached Donald Trump and the case [has been / will be] sent to the Senate for trial. What do you want YOUR Senators to do – [vote in favor of convicting Trump and removing him from office (or) vote against convicting Trump so he will remain in office]?

For comparison (Richard Nixon): *(Impeachment, as you probably know, involves the following: First, the Lower House – that is, the U.S. House of Representatives – must decide whether there is enough evidence to bring a President to trial before the Senate. If the House of Representatives decides that there is enough evidence, the Senate then conducts a trial to determine whether or not the President’s actions are serious enough to warrant his being removed from the Presidency. Now, let me ask you first of all, if you think there is enough evidence of possible wrongdoing in the case of President Nixon to bring him to trial before the Senate, or not?)
